Lin,

Thank you for registering to be a member of GATE, the first worldwide organization for teachers of economics. GATE is a thriving community of K-12 teachers dedicated to advancing economic literacy.

As a member of GATE, you will receive a number of exclusive benefits.

* Access to the GATE web site which includes a discussion board, web links, NCEE online lessons, archived data for all of the GATE communications, and much more.

To start using the GATE web site, go to (<http://www.ncee.net/gate/>) and use the following login information:

Email: linlin@cortland.edu

Password: iamdobby

* You save 20 percent off the full catalog price on everything published by NCEE. Just go to the NCEE store (<http://store.ncee.net>) and find the publications you want. Then enter "GATE-discount" in the "Coupon Code" text field on the payment page. If you order from NCEE's print catalog, write "GATE-discount" under "Coupon Code # if applicable." This is on the bottom of the order form. If you order by phone or fax, be sure to say you are a GATE member. You can order by phone at 800-338-1192, extension 106. You can order by fax at 212-730-1793. A GATE discount cannot be combined with any other discount.

* You will receive a variety of print and electronic publications.

* You will receive periodic e-Alerts about opportunities to participate in national workshops and international study tours and information you can use.

* You can attend the NCEE/NAEE/GATE Annual Conference at a reduced registration fee. This is the largest conference for economic educators in the United States. The sessions will cover the latest teaching strategies and materials.

Your ideas are welcome. Please e-mail your suggestions to us at gate@ncee.net.

Again, welcome to GATE!
