

To continue receiving these messages please add subscriptions@journalsuchicago.qm4.net to your address book. If you can't see this message in full, please visit the online version.

Dear Lin Lin,

Thank you for subscribing to Comparative Education Review.

In celebration of Earth Day 2009, Comparative Education Review is offering you the option to Go Paperless! Respect the earth, save trees, and minimize mailbox clutter by opting out of paper renewal mailings!

It's Easy to be Green! Simply reply to this e-mail, and we'll mark your account "Paperless"! Once you Go Paperless, you will receive your renewal notices by e-mail at this address, and you can renew online using our secure server.

You will receive no more paper renewal notices in the mail (unless we identify a problem with your e-mail account). A final notice will only be mailed if your subscription reaches expiration, and we haven't heard from you.

Hit Reply to Go Paperless Today!

Thank you, and Happy Earth Day!

Customer Service
The University of Chicago Press
1 (877) 705-1878 toll-free (US/Canada)
1 (773) 753-3347 international calls
subscriptions@press.uchicago.edu

P.S. If in the future you decide that you want to resume paper renewal notice mailings, we can do that. Simply e-mail us at subscriptions@press.uchicago.edu.

You are subscribed as lin.lin@cortland.edu. If you would like to change your preferences click here. To unsubscribe from this list click here and you will be removed immediately. To read more about how we protect your privacy, please click here.

The University of Chicago Press Journals Division
P.O. Box 37005 . Chicago, IL 60637 . (877) 705-1878