Dear Lin,

Hello. My name is Andrea Horner and I am a graduate student of education at Ohio University. I am completing my master research project which is a content analysis of multiple perspectives of the Korean War in American History textbooks. Your "Whose History; An Analysis of the Korean War in History Textbooks from the United States, South Korea, Japan, and China" was the only recent study I found on the topic. The only other content analysis I found besides yours was Dan Fleming's "The Forgotten War; Korea". Dr Frans Doppen is my advisor, and he suggested I contact you to inquire about further studies or literature regarding the limited coverage of the Korean War in high school history textbooks. Any resources you could suggest to me would be greatly appreciated.

Thank You,

Andrea Horner
