Diagnostic of Issues

- The lack of information is leading to unnecessary spending
- Long gap between filing application and acceptance into the program.
- Inefficient processes and training
  - Lack of training in the required billing procedures creates problems and denied or rejected claims.
- Missing proper documentation for processes
  - Incorrect documentation leads to excess time & money spent to verify claims.
- Employees unable to answer customer questions
- Not utilizing available resources
- Lack of funding sources to keep up with the growing demand of new enrollees, and the increasing number of Medicare patients with severe illness & high medical costs.

Results from Diagnostics and Root Cause Analysis

- Medicare’s current status of high enrollment vs. the low number of taxpayers supporting the system cannot sustain the increasing costs associated with fraud and waste.
- Are fraud/waste being prevented and have we eliminated the opportunity for overbilling.

Solutions for Quality Issues

- Monitoring and auditing reporting
  - Implement compliance and practice standards
  - Designate a compliance officer
- Conduct appropriate training and education
- Respond appropriately to detected offenses and develop corrective action
  - Develop open lines of communication with employees
  - Enforce disciplinary standards through well-publicized guidelines
- Create a better process for evaluating medical needs and requirements
- Standardize operations
Assess Improvements and How-to Sustain

- Do our auditing reports indicate an increase/decrease in the total number of errors
  - If errors continue, increase, What specific area is affected most
- Have employees been successfully trained in their specific area of expertise as it relates to the Medicare process.
- Have disciplinary standards been enforced on violators, have previous violators conformed to the new standards.

- Questionnaires for employees and doctors

- Training videos that are required on a regular basis

- Hold Kiasens to evaluate processes
