KIMBERLY ROMBACH – FALL 2008

COMMENTS:

- You are caring and enthusiastic about what you do! You are a role model for future teachers, and I am grateful for being your student. I will take all that you have taught me into my future classroom.
- Being understanding and willing to help with our conflicts during the year was huge. Changing and extending due dates was, for the most part, beneficial. The community builders seemed trivial to me at the beginning of the year, but now I see the value and how important creating a positive environment is. Everything we learned in this class was modeled and observed in the host class.
